DETAILED ACTION

This is the First Office Action in response to the above identified patent application filed on October 20, 2006.

Priority

1. Receipt is acknowledged of papers submitted under 35 U.S.C. 119(a)-(d), which papers have been placed of record in the file.

Drawings

2. New corrected drawings in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) are required in this application because they appear to be informal due to the line quality of the reference characters. Applicant is advised to employ the services of a competent patent draftsman outside the Office, as the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office no longer prepares new drawings. The corrected drawings are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. The requirement for corrected drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Specification

3. Applicant is reminded of the proper language and format for an abstract of the disclosure.

The abstract should be in narrative form and generally limited to a single paragraph on a separate sheet within the range of 50 to 150 words. It is important that the abstract not exceed 150 words in length since the space provided for the abstract on the computer tape used by the printer is limited. The form and legal phraseology often used in patent claims, such as "means" and "said," should be avoided. The abstract should describe the disclosure sufficiently to assist readers in deciding whether there is a need for consulting the full patent text for details.

The language should be clear and concise and should not repeat information given in the title. It should avoid using phrases which can be implied, such as, "The disclosure concerns," "The disclosure defined by this invention," "The disclosure describes," etc.

4. The abstract of the disclosure is objected to because the implied phrase "The invention relates to" (line 1) must be deleted. Correction is required. See MPEP § 608.01(b).

Double Patenting

5. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. A nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting rejection is appropriate where the conflicting claims are not identical, but at least one examined application claim is not patentably distinct from the reference claim(s) because the examined application claim is either anticipated by, or would have been obvious over, the reference claim(s). See, e.g., In re Berg, 140 F.3d 1428, 46 USPQ2d 1226 (Fed. Cir. 1998); In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) or 1.321(d) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent either is shown to be commonly owned with this application, or claims an invention made as a result of activities undertaken within the scope of a joint research agreement.

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

6. Claims 1-10 are rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over the claims of U.S. Patent No. 7,524,116.

Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because they are of overlapping scope.

7. Claims 1-10 are provisionally rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over the claims of copending Application No. 10/599,075. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because they are of overlapping scope.

This is a provisional obviousness-type double patenting rejection because the conflicting claims have not in fact been patented.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

8. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

9. Claims 1-6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Kretzer (DE 39 17 128).

Kretzer discloses a cage for inclined ball bearings having comprising ball pockets which are adjacent to one another and are delimited from one another by webs (4,6), retaining lugs (8) protruding from the webs wherein the retaining lugs are provided with flanks (Figures 1 and 3) which point in the opposite direction on the circumferential side and are inclined toward one another, the flanks having a straight body edge, the body edge being inclined by an angle with respect to an imaginary plane, the plane emanating from the rotational axis of the cage and being aligned with the rotational axis in the axial direction of the cage, wherein each of the flanks is inclined with respect to a straight line which is imaginary and intersects the rotational axis, wherein the circumferential spacing of two flanks which face away from one another on a retaining lug increases with decreasing radial distance from the rotational axis.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

10. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

11. Claims 1-10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Chambert (USPub 2001-036329) in view of by Kretzer (DE 39 17 128).

Chambert discloses a ball cage having ball pockets which are adjacent to one another and are delimited from one another by webs, retaining lugs (13) protruding from the webs wherein the retaining lugs are provided with flanks (see Figures) which point in the opposite direction on the circumferential side.

Chambert does not disclose the lugs having flanks that are inclined toward one another. The prior art to Kretzer teaches lugs (8) having flanks, the flanks being inclined towards one another. It would have been within the skill of one in the art at the time the invention was made to modify the lugs of Chambert with lugs having flanks that are inclined towards one another, as taught by Kretzer, motivation being to provide a predetermined the cage with a predetermined retaining force to maintain the cage in engagement with the bearing race.

Conclusion

12. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. See the ball cage of USP 4,723,851 and USP 3,975,066.
